An Erasmus Mundus Master

About EDU_MIG

The European Erasmus Mundus Joint Master's Program Education, Migration, and Diversity (EDU_MIG) is a two-year, research-based and practice-oriented M.A. program. It combines interdisciplinary teaching in migration studies, cultural and religious studies, educational sciences, and applied linguistics.

The program prepares internationally trained professionals to develop, promote, and critically evaluate diversity-oriented and migration-sensitive approaches across schools, adult education, public institutions, businesses, and NGOs.

A Global Network

The core institutions of EDU_MIG are:

University of Education Schwäbisch Gmünd (Germany)

University of Gävle (Sweden)

University of Calabria (Italy)

In addition, EDU_MIG benefits from an extensive network of academic and professional partners in Germany, Sweden, Italy, Türkiye, Benin, and Tunisia. Each year, 25 international students are selected to participate in this joint master's program. They begin their studies in Schwäbisch Gmünd and then continue their academic journey at partner institutions across the network.

We warmly welcome you to join us in celebrating the launch of EDU_MIG and to meet the first cohort of 25 inspiring students from around the world.
